

Award Winning September for Local Staging and Redesign Firm

Highlands Ranch, CO. Erica Starich, owner of Star Interior Solutions, a staging and redesign firm based in Highlands Ranch, received two prestigious awards in the categories of “Best Living Room Makeover” and “Best Accessorizing” at a national staging and redesign conference for industry professionals in Golden, CO on September 29th. Interior Arrangements, Inc., one of the top staging and redesign career training companies in the country, sponsored the event.

“To be awarded top honors by my peers in two categories is extremely rewarding” says Starich, who earlier this year was awarded with “Best Staged Room” at the 2007 Interior Redesign Industry Specialists national conference in Nashville, TN.

Star Interior Solutions specializes in Interior Redesign...creating environments that are not only beautiful but functional for the way each client lives, and home staging...preparing homes for sale. In today’s housing market, real estate agents are doing everything possible to set themselves apart from their competition and get properties sold. Home staging is a key marketing tool that allows them to do both---list more properties and sell them faster.

“According to the National Association of Realtors, for every dollar sellers put into staging, the sellers get $4 back.” Both concepts are regularly featured on HGTV. Starich founded Star Interior Solutions in 2005. She is a professionally trained and certified master stager and interior redesigner. She is a member of the Interior Redesign Industry Specialists and an affiliate member of the South Metro Denver Realtor Association.
